Overview of Enjin Coin

Enjin Coin is an Ethereum-based cryptocurrency used to directly back the value of blockchain assets created with “Enjin Platform.” Enjin Coin can be used to purchase and issue digital assets, NFTs* (non-fungible tokens), in the platform and also features a "melt" function that allows owners to melt their digital assets back into Enjin Coin when they are no longer needed.

“Enjin Platform” is linked to 35 games for the issuance of NFTs, including Microsoft's popular game, “Minecraft,” and as more game titles are linked to the platform, the use and value of Enjin Coin is expected to increase.

* NFT (non-fungible token) is a non-replaceable certificate of rights that is recorded on the blockchain and has unique values or information.
